Believe Loss $30,000,000 Heavy Crop Damage

Early hopes for a bumper Alberta crop are disappearing, as a glaring sun in a cloudless sky continues to draw the small moisture reserve from the soil, stunting the crops, and burning the leaves and the straw to a premature ripeness. Weather forecasters predict little relief from the heat wave, which has now lasted more than two weeks.

CROP REPORTS, compiled by railway and grain companies say the area extending from Canmore east to the provincial border and south almost to the international line, indicate that each hot day means a further deterioration in an already serious situation. Confirmation of these reports was received Tuesday from A. M. Wilson, provincial field crop commissioner who told of seeing barley crops in the Camrose area withered by the heat three weeks ago. West of the Edmonton-Calgary highway a more favorable situation was seen, as Mr. Wilson also confirmed reports that crops in that district were nearly normal growth for the time of year. However, even there, unless rain comes within a few days, crops will be much smaller than normal.

THE HOT WEATHER and early moisture reserve in the west of the province have forced heavy growth to overcome the late start occasioned by the cold damp spring weather. All authorities agree that early moisture conditions in the province were excellent, but all point out that this is the time of the growing season when, unless rain comes, crops will be much smaller than normal.

Forage crops in the more heavily affected area also were suffering considerable damage. Most of the hay crop commission to be very close to the departmental estimate.

Nations Trying to Establish European Building Society

By Sir Shulham Redfern

LONDON, July 22: The art of commercial advertisement is full of subtleties. An advertisement which I have just come across in a well-known English weekly contains the story of a building, who in the course of the advertisement on the subject of life without a body, observed that "when he was alone after dinner he often took out his false teeth and felt relieved of undesired stresses and he thought that dramatic existence would require the sense of freedom and rest."

"A SUGGESTIVE analogy," goes on the advertisement, "but would not the bishop have been obliged to have sacrificed his illustrative material and paid a visit to a dentist? He would then have rid himself of the stress, while he yet remained incarnate."

Now when an advertisement begins like that, you have to read the rest of it to find out what is being advertised. It may be anything from a long time, the toothpaste. In this case, surprisingly enough, the firm of advertisers was a building society, and the subtlety lay in bridging the gap between the story and the false teeth and the final sentence of the advertisement—"Why not take the first step now and write for a copy of the Society's Guide to the building society?"

Curiously, 19-year-old Susan George is on her way up in this year's beauty parade. Becoming "Miss Santa Monica," above, she's too eligible to compete for "Miss Los Angeles County 1947," a title awarded the "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City on Labor Day. But on the practical side, winning "Miss Santa Monica" has won her a Samuel Goldwyn's "That's Life" film's show with actress Virginia Mads, a contest judge.

Britons in Rush Fly to Ontario

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

LONDON, July 22: (CP)—The British government has announced that its health and hopes set on Ontario's sunny shores, poured into a grey stone building near Piccadilly Circus Monday, determined to take the 1,000 of Britain's post-war austerities.

Though nearly 1,000 persons have been accepted as suitable immigrants since the scheme opened at Ontario House two weeks ago, only 40 Monday's departure documentation procedure at Rainbow Corner and the flight of 400 passengers money at the transport office set up on the ground floor.

The majority gave three reasons for leaving Britain: (1) food, clothing and shelter; (2) a desire to forget the war and start afresh in a new land; and (3) to give their children a better life and opportunities.

"These youngsters in Britain these days is no joke," said S. T. Parsons, who has a wife and three children. He hopes to be among the 7,000 flown to Ontario during August, September, October and November.

"We've had enough," said Mrs. Parsons. "We were nearly blown to bits in the war. Now there is the end of the war and we're going to make our money. At least I'll be able to satisfy the children's appetite over there."

Priorities is being given to agricultural workers and technicians.

City Naval Man At Garden Party

A Royal Canadian naval officer from this city was present at the Royal garden party on Thursday, July 18 after the announcement was made by the King that he had been knighted.

The officer, Lt. (P) W. H. Pearson, 9723 8th avenue, is stationed in England and attended the event on the lawn of Buckingham Palace. About 1,000 of England's politicians attended the garden party, wrote Lt. Pearson in a letter to his parents, and the event was quite an eye-opener to see how really beautiful some people can dress even today with England's so-called post-war austerity," he added.

Regarding the official announcement of the Prince's engagement to the lady, Lt. Pearson wrote: "It gives one a queer but mighty proud feeling to be privileged enough to be able to stand within three feet of the royal family on such a day."

Without America, he said, we should not bring about the end of the war and sense of cold frustration. We in Britain should be brought yet nearer to the realization that we are a small part of a world doomed to extinction if we remain aloof, compelled to build round a sickening flame if we make common cause with our fellow Europeans.

Whether that flame is to be blown out or not, we must be prepared to be coaxed into a warming bath, depends on us and on American leadership.

Committee May Make "New Republic" Probe

WASHINGTON, July 22: (AP)—The House of Representatives committee on un-American activities asked a witness on Communist activities Monday for his records on "The New Republic" magazine, of which Henry A. Wallace is editor.

THE WITNESS, Walter S. Steele, chairman of the National security committee of the American Council on Patriotic Civic and Fraternal Activities, said he would be glad to supply them.

Questioned by Rep. Karl E. Paulsen (Rep.—N.J.), Steele said the magazine is financed at least 80 per cent by foreign capital, and is a "front" for the Communist Party, he said.

Michael Straight, publisher of the New Republic, said in a statement in New York:

"These are stale charges which have been brought up again and which have been repeatedly disproved. Representative E. Paulsen must have heard that the New Republic is about to print an article about him."

Rep. Thomas (Rep.—N.J.) is head of the un-American activities committee.

STEELE SAID that Wallace "appears to be the mouthpiece" for the Progressive Citizens of America. He alleged this organization is a "front" for the Communist Party, intended to penetrate other political parties or to launch a third party.

"It is that," Steele replied. Steele also said the group is connected with one in California headed by Robert Kennedy which has proposed Wallace for president.

ON OTHER topics, Steele testified: Men who were war-time experts on atomic power since have taught on the subject in Communist schools in this country.

Medical Faculty Priorities

The statement issued by the University of Alberta with respect to restrictions on registration in the faculty of medicine is not clear.

It is stated that a priority system has been established so that preference, in the matter of registration, will be given to students with the best academic qualifications, of the most favorable ages and with the longest military records.

If restriction is necessary, the basis upon which the priorities are awarded would seem to be quite sound. So much of the explanation is intelligible.

But it is not at all plain why restrictions need to be imposed at all, beyond protecting the public from totally unfitted candidates and protecting the unfitted student himself from a waste of time.

If the University of Alberta will graduate no more than 46 students in medicine each year. Since the local institution is the only university west of Winnipeg giving medical degrees, this means that Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia are together to turn out no more than 46 qualified doctors for each province.

Since there is a serious shortage of medical men in almost every part of Canada, this output seems to be amazingly low. It would hardly provide replacements for doctors passing out of the picture each year through retirement or death.

There are only two possible reasons for this limitation on registration. The first reason might be that equipment is not sufficient to handle more than 46 students in each year. In that case, immediate efforts should be made to expand that equipment. Surely the three westernmost provinces have sufficient regard for public health to find the money necessary for such expansion.

The second reason for limitation might be the result of pressure brought by medical associations to keep the medical field free of too much competition. If such is the case, the university is not to be commended for subservience to such a vicious procedure.

Whether or not the limitation is the true reason, it is not tolerable to the western public that it should fall to be remedied.

The Buyers Strike

The Cape Breton buyers' strike is at last under way in Nova Scotia, promoted by certain labor organizations. It is expected that the families of 20,000 organized workers will participate.

No specific commodities are to fall under the ban at present. The strikers are being asked only "to immediately resist the buying of any goods which seem to fall in the exorbitant class field, the specific commodities at present to be determined by the individual consumer on the basis of how it affects his pocketbook."

So far this instruction appears to be entirely reasonable. As a matter of fact, it closely follows the procedure under which any intelligent buyer in normal times selects his or her purchases. Anyone is perfectly right to turn his back on goods whose price appears to be excessive.

But later, it is announced, specific items will be named, which the public will be forbidden to buy. And at that point the strike will become dangerous.

For only a competent government bureau, in a position to know all the facts and costs of production, is able to say with any degree of accuracy what is or is not an unfair price. Amateur economists, running a strike, could very easily inflict great hardship upon certain manufacturers and even seriously impair the essential production of the country.

No one questions the honesty of purpose of these promoting this movement. But it must be admitted that opportunities for blackmail abound in the situation.

In view of these unwholesome potentialities, price control could very well be left to competent officials of the government. Amateur controllers can do too much harm.

A Career in Arms

It is announced that ten out of the 88 members of Western Canada COFCU units taking summer training at Cefire Barracks in Calgary have decided to adopt an army career on the completion of their university courses.

These ten young men are well-advised. It is a pity that a greater percentage of the total could not have seen their way clear to make the same decision.

Up until the last war, a permanent career in arms carried with it some vague and faint intimation of disrepute. Our ridiculous orgy of pacifism between the two world wars, set up the wild notion that the professional soldier was something of an unambitious ne'er-do-well who took to the army because he could find nothing more profitable and useful to do.

This faint of suspicion cast, unjustly and foolishly, on the army created a decided and dangerous shortage of trained officers when the last war broke out. During that war, the supreme usefulness of adequate military training was fully established. And it would be a calamity if we should ever doubt it again—this side the millennium of peace.

The fact is that a career of arms is an honorable and useful career, demanding just as much intelligence and capacity as any learned profession.

We should never again perpetrate the stupidity of permitting a military career to fall into disrepute.

Why the Embarrassment?

The circumstances under which the Lady Iris Mountbatten, remotely related to the British Royal Family, was arrested in Washington and taken to be deported from the United States are being explained in an atmosphere of acute embarrassment.

It is difficult to imagine why this strained air should surround the incident, why a tone of apology should creep into all the press reports and why it should be necessary for anyone to display a red face.

There is nothing in the fact of being on the fringe of royal matters that makes a person immune to the impulses of bad behavior. Indeed, even the most ardent royalist will admit that the present Royal Family, like every other family, has had its careless and reckless members and even its share of black sheep.

Certainly His Majesty the King would be the last person on earth to claim special dispensations for his distant cousin. And if the Lady Iris Mountbatten has broken the terms of her passport visa, it is quite proper that she should be deported like anyone else.

There is no need to be embarrassed about it. There is no reason to make excuses. The Lady Iris is just a person — like any other.

General Eisenhower interprets history to prove that national success in war or peace demands participation in the world community. That is another fact the Russian ladies are not being told.

Gandhi, who for years has been trying to persuade the British to leave India, now wants them to resolve the difference between Hindus and Moslems before pulling out. He's a hard man to satisfy.

We would like to go further. We would like to do some of the work the CBC does with its own research department in different ways, sending out questionnaires, having interviewing panels of people in different parts of the country, and try to get a really good appreciation of what people think of different programs and why they think that. Mr. Dutton said that he believed the Elliott-Haynes survey was fair, but he believed there is a lot of information not provided by Elliott-Haynes.

It would seem to the average Canadian that the CBC is a preferred position to obtain much of this information at very little extra expense. Every owner of a radio receiving set in Canada is compelled by law to take out an annual license costing $2.50. Last year's total licenses were slightly over 1,800,000 in number.

The Elliott-Haynes survey is conducted by present methods of radio listeners while the Gallup Poll selects a percentage of people of various ages, sexes, and occupations and arrives at its statistics on a kind of actual basis.

MR. DUTTON himself expressed disapproval of present methods of determining radio listener preferences. In the committee meeting of Thursday, June 28, Mr. Dutton (Page 415 of the committee report) is quoted as saying that CBC

Gives World Hope

by ELMORE PHILPOTT

Mark down July 9, 1947, as a red letter day in the calendar of human progress. For on that day something positive happened which in my judgment far outweighs all the negative tug-of-war and conflict of the past two years.

In both Houses of the U.S. Congress, resolutions were introduced requesting President Truman to free the nations of Europe from the grip of the United Nations into a "limited world government."

The crux of the resolutions is that the United Nations, which are identical in both houses, are to be dissolved.

Resolved that it is the sense of the Congress that the President of the United States should immediately take the initiative in calling a general conference of the United Nations, pursuant to Article 106, for the purpose of making the United Nations capable of reacting, interpreting and enforcing, new law to prevent war.

The list of nations sponsoring the resolutions is even more significant than the text itself. For, it represents gathering and questioning for statements formerly extremely far apart.

House resolution is backed by Republicans such as Judd, Hale and Nixon, as well as by many Democrats. The identical Senate resolution is sponsored by the Republican Tobey of New Hampshire and Democrats Taylor of Idaho, Murray of Montana and most significant of all—Claude Pepper of Florida.

Another resolution, slightly different, is signed by some of the ablest as well as by Brian MacLean of Connecticut, and even Harry Byrd of Virginia.

"We have the key men in the 'get tough with Russia' group," says the "the friends with Russia" group. At last they have found something positive to work towards.

In my opinion, this could begin the most constructive change in all modern history.

ARTICLE 106 of the United Nations Charter says that any two-thirds of the members of the United Nations should be able to pass any subject at a time. The name and address of the writer must be given, and must be accompanied by publication if the correspondent is not a member of the press.

There is a great deal of talk about the "text" of the Bible. But what is the text? Is it the Bible as it is, or is it the Bible as it should be? The text of the Bible is the Bible as it is, and it is the Bible as it is that we should read and study.

Kilburn Paces Leafs To Win Over S. Side

Maple Leafs increased their grip on first place in the junior baseball league to two games at Clarke Stadium last night with a 5-2 triumph over South Side. Dick Lowe styled the power in the South Side willows with a nifty four-hitter while his mates climbed all over Bill Kasting for seven safeties.

COLE KILBURN was the hub of the blizzard triumph. He smacked out a single, a double, and a triple in four times up, and spared the team all along the line de-finitely.

Lowe worked easily. He stayed ahead of the hitters all the time and fair fielding on occasion helped him out. He left six South Siders stranded on the base paths.

LEAFS SCORED once in the first, but behind when the South Side nine rang the bell twice in the second. They plunged ahead for keeps with two runners in the third.

Kilburn's triple was the big blow in the Leafs' third frame attack while Jimmy Stewart bashed an other three-base clout for Walter Johnson's squad in the seventh. Bob Coughlin was the big gun for South Side with two singles. Kasting threw a steady brand of ball for the losers. He whiffed six.

Leafs Whip Hudson's Bay 6-4

It was the old, old story at Kingsway last night, but it almost wasn't. Mortons shaved South Side 3-2 in the senior ladies football fixture and Maple Leafs shackled Hudson's Bay 6-4 in the junior tilt.

But, back to the ladies. South Side almost pulled the upset of the season when they pushed Mortons to one down in the ninth before the second out of contention. For eight and a half frames the South Side team toyed with the Mortons and when Jean Belanger ripped a double to centre in the score of the game-winning runs in the last of the ninth everyone knew it had been loaded.

AND SO it was the old, old story with Miss Belanger writing the dramatic finish.

South Side was leading 2-1 going into Mortons' half of the ninth. They had scored once in each of the first and third innings, while Mortons had registered a single in the ninth. There was one out and runners on second and third when Belanger came through with her precious double. It marked the ninth time this year that Mortons have clipped the battling South Side game.

THE LEAFS scored a brace of runs in the seventh frame of their contest to huck themselves a 6-4 triumph over the Bay band. They had gone ahead 4-1 in the first four frames, but saw their rivals nudge the count with a trip in the sixth.

Doug Howey's double and singles from the bats of Ernie Rucke and Ron Parks sparked the bluebirds' winning spurt in the seventh.

John Andrichuk paced the Leafs with a triple and a single, while Les McCartney had the same record for the Bay.

Score by innings:
 Hudson's Bay 000 000—0 4 4
 Maple Leafs 200 100 200—6 4 4
 Major: Stewart (1), and McCartney, Fife, Wodney (1), and Parks.
 South Side 000 000—0 3 3
 Mortons 400 200 000—10 3 7

VLA Official Here To Settle Project

To try to settle problems hindering the completion of the Veterans Land Act project on the Grieson estate, and to house the families concerned as soon as possible, the aim of Gordon Murchison, director of VLA, Ottawa, expressed in the city Tuesday morning.

Mr. Murchison, who will remain here for a few days, expressed every confidence of clearing up the matter, "It isn't, it will be because there is no real interest of negotiation between the concerned parties," he said.

If the veterans meet in this spirit, it is an confident it will work out successfully," he added.

The problem is primarily between the department, veterans and contractors. "Everyone is trying to fit these common objectives but no one seems to succeed."

During his official visit in Edmonton, Mr. Murchison will work with the Canadian Legion officials, and will view every phase of the Grieson estate project.

Floodlights Being Installed at Renfrew Park

With the installation of floodlights in Renfrew Park, Edmonton will have one of the most up-to-date sports stadiums in Western Canada. Some of the lighting already has been installed, and work was continuing all day today. It is expected by officials that the stadium will be in readiness for night games within the next few days.

The explosion failed to damage the structure of the stadium, but it did cause a standard with a cluster of lights, above the right field fence. Gleaming steel and the battery of floodlights are all but ready for varied night sporting events, including wrestling, boxing, and others.

Says Faulty Fuse Saved Hitler's Life

LONDON, July 22.—(AP)—Dr. Otto John, a German doctor special work for the British foreign office, told a London meeting last night that Adolf Hitler escaped assassination in March of 1943 only because an English-made fuse failed to set off a bomb smuggled into his private plane. John said the fuse was attached to a bomb constructed by two cognate bodies addressed by a high command officer to a friend of Hitler's, a German doctor, in the front. The plot of Hitler's plane was perused in a German newspaper appearing package about just before the plane took off from Berlin.
